Convict Lake sits below Mount Morrison and fishes well in spring. The inlet holds browns after ice-out, and the far shore drops fast into deep water where the rainbows cruise in the first hour of light.

Crowley Lake opens the last Saturday in April with crowds along McGee Bay. Later in the season the perch move shallow and the big browns follow them along the weed lines on the north side as the water warms.